

Mapping out your road...

What career path suits you best?

How do you choose your future career as a PhD graduate? The options may be far more extensive than you may imagine, especially in today's world. So what will determine your decision? Your knowledge, your capabilities, opportunities that just happen to arise?

This training puts you in the driving seat of your career. We challenge you to discover your PhD Power and the internal factors that drive you in what you do. The question then becomes: To what extent do you dare to let your true motivation determine your career path?

Both trainers are PhD graduates and pursued research careers. When they took the leap and applied their PhD skills outside research, it resulted in unexpected but successful and rewarding career paths.

...as a science professional a 2-day retreat for PhDs & postdocs

'Taking a break from the everyday working routine to discover what really matters to you in your work life.'

'It is good to think about the next step before the actual time of making decisions.'

'If you do only one course, do this one'

'Lasting positive impact on your life and career'

This retreat will be held at a wonderful and quiet place in the centre of the Netherlands, in the middle of a great nature reserve.

The programme includes:

- Learn about your true professional value
- Discover the many career options that are open to PhD graduates
- Analyze your motivational drive and learn how to make this work for you
- Acquire a hands-on strategy to identify careers that suit your profile
- Map the very concrete first steps of your unique journey towards a fulfilling career
